University of Nevada Reno and Reno families continue to coordinate outreach and assistance for family impacted by Maui Fires

Reno, NV (September 6, 2023) – Efforts are ongoing to support Lahaina native and UNR freshman football quarterback AJ Bianco and his family who lost their home and family business in the devastating Maui fires. This weekend at the UNR football game, volunteers will be selling Lahaina Strong t-shirts for $15 and collecting donations with all funds raised going directly to the Bianco family. Support efforts will continue throughout the football season with a focus on direct aid to the Bianco family but also highlighting community aid organizations and outreach to the Maui communities and people impacted.

Awareness of the Bianco family's situation shared quickly in the days following the tragedy on Maui with a Go fund Me page started by AJ's sister Julie. The page to-date has generated over $30,000 from families and friends associated with AJ through UNR and the football program, but the page is just a starting point for the Bianco family as they begin to heal and rebuild their home, business and community.

In reports from Maui county officials, at least 115 people were killed, several hundred still missing, and more than 2,200 structures destroyed in the wildfire that tore through downtown Lahaina on Aug. 8, one of several that broke out that day on the island.
